

Info experiences model.

So I've been thinking about a graphic way to represent ~~info experiences~~ experiences of information. I have primarily been conceiving the creating process as a zig-zag - moving back + forth between concrete practices, that while not particularly observable, are fairly easily definable. But how info is experienced seems not to be as simple. Connecting it to concrete practices leaves me w/ a mess of lines. And a venn diagram suggests so much overlap it is almost one circle. However I am thinking that a spiral that telescopes in + then out may have some promise. It would look something like this:

